

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Alison Temperley leads the design, delivery and coaching of global women's leadership programmes for Linklaters and Allen & Overy, and co-leads the global programme for Bird & Bird. She was also the coaching designer and joint programme director for the EY EMEA women's leadership programme for 8 years, working with Cranfield University.

Alison has worked both for and with professional service firms for over 30 years. A qualified Chartered Accountant, with a master's degree in Organisational Psychodynamics, she combines practical business experience with an understanding of the driving forces that shape the careers of those who work for partnerships. Her business experience ranges from senior client-facing roles to the Head of Career Development for PwC's EMEA tax and legal practice.