INDEX

Accountable Care Act (ACA), 176 Accountable care organizations (ACOs), 128–129, 182 Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME), 157 Ad hoc debt-driven model, 195–198 Adult social care (ASC), 5 Agency theory, 178 American Medical Association (AMA), 80 Analysis of variance (ANOVA), 52 Artificial intelligence (AI), 101, 124, 126 Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC), 78 Attorney General (AG), 176 Best Organizations for Leadership Development (BOLD), 227 "Blue sky" approach, 131 Business model. See also Community-based model canvas, 10 categories for homecare models, 13 - 14"Buy and build" strategy, 181 Care Act 2014, 4, 6-7, 9 Care Management Company (CMO), 186 Care market, 4 Care Quality Commission (CQC), 6 Caritas Christi Health Care, 175-176 Caritas Christi Network Services (CCNS), 193 Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), 128–129, 182 Cerberus Capital, 176

Certified nursing assistants (CNAs), 100 Chi-square analysis, 52 Chief human resource officers (CHROs), 225 Chief operating officers (COOs), 225 Cleaning robots, 122-124 Clinical decision support system (CDS system), 125 Coherent Regional Health Care Model, 184–188 Community Health Systems (CHS), 198 Community-based model. See also Preventative model, 18–19 case study, 19-20 Computer-based learning (CBL), 159 Confirmation practices, 19-20 Continuing medical education (CME), 144 Control experiences, 279 COVID-19 impact on primary care practice sites, 234 analysis, 240-241 developing capacity for virtual visits, 250 innovation preconditions and plans for sustaining virtual visits, 250, 253, 258 limitations, 258 measures, 239-240 methods, 238-241 practice site organizational characteristics, 253, 255-256, 258 process innovations, 255-256 protecting patients at high risk of COVID-19 and of missed, delayed, or postponed care for MCCs, 242–247

respondents, 241-242 results, 241-242 safety and financial precautions, 242 sample and data collection, 238 - 239survey development, 238 theory, 235-238 impact of virtual visits, 250 COVID-19 pandemic, 274 importance of recovery process during, 276 Cross-sector partnerships, 39 Cultural career constraints, 84 Data intensity, 10 Department of Health and Human Services (DHS), 116 Dependent variables (DVs), 51, 239 Detachment, 277 Diagnosis-related groups (DRGs), 176 - 177Digital communications, 119–122 Direct payments, 6-7 Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS), 6 Electronic health records (EHRs), 105 Electronic medical record (EMR), 279 Electronic visit verification (EVV), 122 Emergency preparedness, 237–238 Emergent homecare models impact of, 5 findings, 12-21 homecare market, 5-7 market shaping, 7-8 methods. 9-12 time and task homecare model in England, 8–9

Employee peers, 163 Employee retention in medical practices, 47 analysis, 52 contributions, 66–67 instrument and data collection, 51 limitations and directions for future research, 68–69 managerial implications, 68 methods, 50–52 results, 53–60 sample, 51 variables, 52 Employee turnover, 53–59 Environmental service (EVS), 100–101 Evidence-based management, 222–223 Experiential intensity, 10

Fee-for-service (FFS), 113, 180 Fee-for-value (FFV), 180 Filling Employee Vacancies (FEV), 52 Financial distress index, 174 Focused ethnography, 10 Frontline health care work(ers) artificial intelligence, 124-126 digital communications, telehealth, and telepresence, 119-122 experimentation, 129-132 impact of new technologies on, 126-133 power of payment models, 127–129 reform organizations, 133 service and cleaning robots, 122 - 124technologies influence, 118–126 training, 132-133 workforce, 133 Frontline health care workforce in United States, 103-110 jobs, 103–108 workers, 108-110 Full-time equivalent (FTE), 52

Gender barriers, 79–80 Gender bias, 78 conceptual framework, 79–80 grand challenge and pernicious problem, 79 methods, 80–85 results, 85–89

variables, descriptions, and question wording, 81-83 General partner (GP), 178 Governance, 179, 184 Health maintenance organizations (HMOs), 127-128, 184, 186 Health policy, 117 Health systems, 222 Health-care organizations (HCOs), 274-275, 280-281 Health-care workers (HCWs), 274 importance of recovery process during COVID-19 pandemic, 276 recovery from work vs. resilience, 275 - 276strategies to foster and facilitate recovery from work, 276 - 280Health-care, 46 management, 30 sector. 234 workforce, 100-102 Health-care Cost Report Information System (HCRIS), 228–229 Healthy foods ambassador, 138 High road, 134-139 Homecare market, 5-7 Honestly significant difference (HSD), 52 Horizontal integration, 186, 195, 198 Horizontal mergers, 180 Hospital Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems (HCAHPS), 228-229 Hospital ownership and financial stability, 174 case comparisons, 209-212 findings, 183-208 limitations, 212–213 prior literature, 176-181 research methodology, 181-183 Hospital Service Areas (HSAs), 32 Hospitals, 222

Human-patient simulations (HPS), 164 Hypothesis testing, 59–60 Independent Practice Association (IPA), 186 Independent variables (IVs), 51, 239 "Industry studies" research approach, 102 Inferential statistics, 59–60 Information technology (IT), 100–101

Innovation preconditions and plans for sustaining virtual visits, 258 Institutional theory, 177 Integration strategies, 180–181, 184, 188 Intercorrelations, 59–60 Interorganizational relationships, 31 data collection and analysis, 32–34 distinct relationship functions, 34 methods, 32–34 results, 34–38 study design and sample, 32 Introductory agency, 15–16

Job satisfaction, 84

Knowledge, skills, and attitudes (KSAs), 144 Knowledge Loss Impacts Organizational Operations (KLIOO), 52 Knowledge management, 50

Leadership development (LD), 49–50, 52, 222 Licensed practical nurses (LPNs), 100 Limited English proficiency (LEP), 146–147 Live-in model, 16–17 case study, 17–18

Machine learning (ML), 124–125 Male culture, 87

Management Services Agreement (MSA), 178 Managerial opportunism, 177 Market implications, 24 shaping, 7-8 Massachusetts Center for Health Information and Analysis (CHIA), 196–197 Mastery experiences, 279-280 Medical education, 78 Medical Group Management Association (MGMA), 51 Medical Properties Trust (MPT), 197 Mentoring, lack of, 88-90 Mergers and acquisitions (M&As), 174-175 Mission, 179, 184 Montefiore and Steward Health System Expansions, 210 Montefiore and Steward Health System Financials, 212 Montefiore Health System, 175-176, 181-183, 193 integration strategies, 184-188 ownership, mission, and governance, 184 scale, scope, financials, and ACO care metrics, 188-193 Montefiore's Hospital Acquisitions, 189-191 Multiple chronic comorbidities (MCCs), 235 protecting patients at high risk of COVID-19 and of missed, delayed, or postponed care for, 242-247 Multiple sclerosis (MS), 17 National Academy of Medicine, 30 National Center for Healthcare Leadership (NCHL), 222-223 applying evidence, 225–227 assessing and presenting evidence, 224 informing approach through review of prior research, 223-224 researching leadership development and organization outcomes, 228-229 subsequent iterations and changes over time, 227-228 updating guiding research questions, 223 National Health Service (NHS), 5-6 Natural language processing (NLP), 124-125 Needs analysis, 161 New York State (NYS), 182–183 Occupational health psychology, 274 - 275Older adults, 31-32

Open-ended questions, 84

Operational succession planning (OSP), 47, 53 conceptual framework, 47–48 knowledge management, 50 leadership development, 49–50 replacement planning, 48–49 Ordinary least squares (OLS), 84 Organizational analysis, 161–162 Organizational benchmarking, 222–223 Organizations, 7–8 Our Lady of Mercy Medical Center (OLM), 186–187

Ownership, 177, 179, 184 structures, 175

Patient care quality, 192 Patient experience, 222 Per member per month (PMPM), 113 Perceived utility of training, 162 Person analysis, 162 Personal protective equipment (PPE), 274 Planning For Filling Vacancies After (PFFVA), 52 Planning For Filling Vacancies Before (PFFVB), 52 Political opportunism, 177 Population health management (PHM), 174, 182 Practice site organizational characteristics. 256-258 Practices Formal Leadership Development (PFLD), 52 Practices Informal Leadership Development (PILD), 52 Preventative model, 20 case study, 20-21 Preventing Knowledge Loss (PKL), 52 Primary care physicians (PCPs), 121 Primary care practices, 234-235 Private equity (PE), 174 firms, 174-175, 181 model, 178 ownership, 179 Private investment fund, 174–175 Process innovations, 255-256 Quadruple Aim, 100 approach and data, 102-103 frontline health care workforce in United States, 103–110 high road, 134–139 labor market impact of technological change, 114 impact of new technologies on frontline health care workers. 126-133 scale, substitution, and reinstatement effects, 114-115 sector, 111-114

sector, 111–114 sector-specific drivers of technology adoption, 116–118 technologies influence frontline health care work, 118–126 work-centered vs. technology-centered adoption, 115–116 Qualitative analysis, 85 Quantitative analysis, 84 Queen Bee Syndrome, 88 Real estate investment trust (REIT), 197 Recovery experiences, 277 Recovery from work, 274-276 strategies to foster and facilitate, 276 - 280Recovery process during COVID-19 pandemic, 276 Relative value units (RVUs), 164 Relaxation, 280 Reliability, 59 Replacement planning, 48-49 Resilience, 275-276 Schedules. 276–277 Sector-specific drivers of technology adoption, 116-118 Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), 206 Self-funded market, 7 Self-limited aspirations, 84 Senior leadership team (SLT), 222 Service Employees International Union (SEIU), 134, 182 - 183Service robots, 122–124 Smart carts, 122-123 Social exchange theory (SET), 47 Standard deviation (SD), 52 State-funded care, 6-7 State-funded market, 7 Steward Health Care System, 181–182 ad hoc debt-driven model, 195-198 governance structure, 195 LLC, 193-208 ownership, mission, and governance, 193–195 scale, scope, financials, and ACO outcomes, 198-208 Steward Research & Specialty Projects Corp. (SRSPC), 207

Steward's Hospital Acquisitions, 199–202 Support for training, 163 Survey development, 238

Task analysis, 162 TeamSTEPPS® teamwork training, 144 Technology-centered adoption, 115 - 116Telehealth, 119–122 Telepresence, 119–122 Three-dimensional breast imaging (3D breast imaging), 128 Time and task homecare model in England, 8-9 "Time and task" model, 4, 7 Time intensity, 10 Trainee motivation, 144 Training content, 162 design, 164 logistics, 158-159, 163 Training and Education Fund (TEF), 137 Training motivation and transfer in hospitals limitations and future research, 165-166 methods, 146-148 practical implications, 161-165 results, 148-159 theoretical model, 145–146 Triple Aim, 100

Turnover rate (TR), 59 Turnover ratio (TR), 52 Two-person career structure, 84 Uberization model, 12–15 case study, 15–16 UK Industrial Strategy, 4 University HealthSystem Consortium (UHC), 224 Uses Practices To Share Knowledge (UPTSK), 52 Uses Tools To Share Knowledge (UTTSK), 52 Validity, 59

Validity, 59 Value proposition, 9–10 Value-based care (VBC), 101–102, 113 Vertical integration strategies, 180, 184, 186, 195, 198 Virtual reality (VR), 144 Virtual visits impact of, 250 developing capacity for, 250 innovation preconditions and plans for sustaining, 250, 253, 258 Vulnerable populations, 258–259

Work environment, 165 Work-centered adoption, 115–116 Workforce recruitment and retention, 20